Volume 5 No. 9

September 2016

A Talented organist before the days of motor-driven or electric organs gave a magnificent concert in which the big pipes sent forth glorious, thunderous tones. After people finished congratulating him, the little boy who had worked away with all his might at the bellows behind the curtain remarked, "We did pretty well, don't you think?"

The organist disdainfully replied, "And what did you do?" He gave the boy no credit at all.

A month later, during another concert, the organist came to a stormy passage that required all the wind of which the bellows were capable. Suddenly the organ began to fade away. The organist signaled for more wind. Just then the little lad pulled aside the curtain and bargained, "then shall it be 'we'?" (Flynn, Leslie B., 19 Gifts of the Spirit, p. 9)

As the church and as individuals, we are something like that organ. To play our music we must be filled by the Spirit's wind. Without God's presence the notes of life fall flat and silent. At Pentecost, God breathed his life and nature into all who would ask. As we live life understanding the "we" that we are a part of, our lives are blessed.

This realization that we are never really alone in this life and that God is present, brought the Apostle Paul to remind people of the manifestation of God within their lives. Paul spoke of the existence of Spiritual gifts. You are gifted, and these gifts of the Spirit are present for the building up of the Body of Christ. The gifts of the Spirit are present for the good of others. In Christ you become a gift for another.

As we move through the next few weeks, in my preaching we are going to be considering the Spiritual Gifts, and how they lead us toward service within the church. What are your spiritual gifts? How has God blessed you, and how are you most able to be a blessing to others? I want us to think about the meaning of our church membership in light of our spiritual gifts.

By the time you read this you may have already received an email from me giving you the opportunity to begin discerning your spiritual gifts, and to share this information with me. As we learn from one another my hope is that the knowledge we gain may help the church in discerning our lay leadership needs. Part of this email is a link to a 21 question spiritual assessment (<http://www.umc.org/what-we-believe/spiritual-gifts-online-assessment>). You may use this shorter assessment or use a longer questionnaire (140 questions) at <http://www.kodachrome.org/spiritgift/>. Email your results from the longer test to pastor_empireumc@centurytel.net. Also I do have printed copies of the longer questionnaire. These are available in the back of the church or you may ask me for one. You may use these results (rather than the shorter questionnaire) to answer the questions in my email if you wish, but I think the shorter survey may be easier and about as informative as the longer survey.

I invite you to be a part of these weeks of learning and spiritual growth, as we reaffirm together how we are blessed and how God has filled our lives with the Spirit's wind. Come and be part of this process as we discern God's call and the Spirit's desire for your life. Let us celebrate and use the gifts that God has given us.

What do you think?

1. There are four basic lists of spiritual gifts in the New Testament: Romans 12:6-8, 1 Corinthians 12:4-11, 1 Corinthians 12:28, Ephesians 4:11. How many individual gifts are listed in these passages? Does this represent all the spiritual gifts?
2. Are spiritual gifts different than the Fruit of the Spirit from Galatians 5:22-23?
3. Do the spiritual gifts always persist or do they end?
4. Does everyone have a spiritual gift and can a person have more than one?
5. What are your spiritual gifts?

Blessings and peace,

Pastor Russell

6 Methodist historical figures

The history of The United Methodist Church is filled with deeply spiritual people like John Wesley, people who devoted their lives to the cause of Christ. We stand upon their lives and work; they continue to challenge us. Here are the stories of six Methodists that you can use in your lessons to help others hear the voice of God.

Fannie Crosby

Though her name may not be familiar to modern worshippers, her words are among the most well-known in all Christianity. Fannie Crosby penned over 9,000 hymns. While her songs like Blessed Assurance became popular among many denominations, Crosby was a lifelong Methodist.

At the same time she was sharing her incredible musical gifts, Crosby lived a life characterized by hope and generosity. She followed Wesley's example regarding possessions, constantly giving away all but what was required for her survival.

Blinded by a treatment prescribed by a man pretending to be a doctor, Crosby could easily have become bitter. Instead, she chose a different path and wrote that her blindness allowed her to enjoy blessings that other people could not.

John Fletcher

When faced with the question of who would lead the Methodist movement after his death, Wesley had one person in mind: John Fletcher. Though Fletcher died before Wesley, his considerable skill as a theologian helped craft the formidable works that included Wesley's world-shaping ideals.

A prolific writer, Fletcher's pursuit of God provides a powerful example for the 21st-century church. It was during a small group gathering that Fletcher shared that he believed he had received the gift of entire sanctification. He went on to say that he had received it twice before but lost it because of false humility and failure to share the news of the incredible gift with others. His teaching: When God does something for us; we must not shy away from praising to God and sharing what God has done.

Sojourner Truth

Born Isabella Baumfree, she grew up as a slave in New York. She escaped in 1862, a year before Abraham Lincoln issued the Emancipation Proclamation. A courageous and formidable woman, she took a slave owner in Alabama to court to get her son out of slavery. She succeeded and blazed a trail as the first black woman to win a case against a white man.

Her fierce obedience to God's call continues to be an example. She became a Methodist in 1843 and, on June 1 of that year, heard a clear call from God to become a traveling preacher speaking out against slavery. With the call came a new name from God — Sojourner Truth. It named her work of traveling and speaking the truth. When asked why she was leaving the security of a good job and housing, she said, "The Spirit calls me, and I must go." She exemplifies the courage and confidence that God will provide as we follow God's call.

Richard Allen

A part of American Methodism from its earliest days, Richard Allen witnessed the establishment of the Methodist Episcopal Church and saw Francis Asbury become a bishop during the historic Christmas Conference of 1784.

The first black Methodist minister, Allen was a powerful preacher and incredible movement builder. Restricted in his early years to preaching only at early morning services, Allen built congregations wherever he served. After being continually held back, Allen left his appointment and established his own congregation. As that congregation grew, he was ordained by Asbury. Eventually — after continuing to experience and witness discrimination against black members — Allen left the Methodist Episcopal Church and established the first fully independent black denomination in the United States. This year, the African Methodist Episcopal Church is celebrating its bicentennial.

Selina, Countess of Huntingdon

Lady Huntingdon became part of the Methodist movement as a member of one of its earliest expressions: the Fetter Lane Society. Though much is written about the effect of the Methodist movement on the lower classes in England, her passion was bringing the fire of revival to England's elite. In service of that goal, she appointed George Whitfield as her personal chaplain. She had him preach at dinners attended by the most influential members of British society. She also used her considerable wealth to build 64 chapels and aid Methodist efforts to serve the poor. After the Methodists were expelled from Oxford, she established a minister's training college to educate preachers. Her commitment to education inspired the founding of Huntingdon College in 1854. The United Methodist-related college is today in Montgomery, Alabama.

Clementine and William Butler

Though they married later in life after he was twice widowed, William and Clementine Butler played a crucial role in planting Methodism in two countries. In 1856, they traveled to India, where they endured the Indian Revolution of 1857, a bloody uprising against British rule. In the aftermath, the Butlers began orphanages for children left homeless and parentless by the revolution and established the India Missionary Conference.

Returning to the United States, Clementine met with women from both Methodist and Congregational churches to encourage the support of single women missionaries. That initiative developed into the Women's Foreign Mission Society, a forerunner of today's United Methodist Women.

After their furlough, the Butlers traveled to Mexico. In their years there, they established a printing press, school, orphanage and several churches that offered the gospel in both word and deed. Their work and lives orbited around serving the hurting and poor.

Fannie Crosby, John Fletcher, Sojourner Truth, Richard Allen, Lady Huntingdon and William and Clementine Butler — these incredible saints are part of the great “cloud of witnesses” that God provides to help us see the path forward. No matter where we are or how we are struggling, we can recall someone else who dealt with similar circumstances.

Getting to know the state –its regions, its gifts...its people – will be a priority in those first few months in the mitten. Each event will include a worship service, with Bishop Bard preaching, followed by a reception.

So this is an invitation to pastors and laity from the four corners of Michigan to welcome Bishop Bard, his wife Julie and their family.

Mark calendars now for one of these times and places:

Saturday, September 24, 2016: Waterford Central UMC, 3882 Highlands Rd, Waterford, MI, at 10:30 am.

Sunday, October 23, 2016: Indian River UMC, 956 Eagles Nest Road, Indian River, MI, 3:00 pm

A brief introduction. Prior to election, the Rev. Dr. David Bard had been serving at First United Methodist Church in Duluth, Minnesota since 2005. He has been in ministry around the state for more than 30 years and is the first person to be elected bishop out of Minnesota. Bishop Bard received a BA from the University of Minnesota, Duluth in 1981; his Master of Divinity was earned at United Theological Seminary, Twin Cities 1984; and in 1994 he received a Ph.D. from Southern Methodist University with a focus on Christian ethics. He and his wife, Julie, have three adult children. In his free time, he enjoys music, reading, baseball, and walking outside. Learn more about Bishop Bard's ministry and vision here.

UMCOR (United Methodist Committee on Relief) is in dire need of Health Kits and Cleaning Kits since the flooding disaster in the southern part of the USA. If anyone is interested in putting together health kits for this effort, please provide them by the end of September. Bring them to church and the Mission team will take care of mailing them to the Sager Brown Depot.

The cleaning kits, in a five gallon bucket are heavy and awkward to ship at a reasonable price. Therefore the logical thing appears to donate the price of a kit and let them provide it at the Sager Brown Depot warehouse.

In both cases, for those interested in donating is to contact the web site: www.umcor.org/UMCOR/Relief-Supplies/relief-supply-kits/Health and obtain full instructions direct from UMCOR. Monetary donations should go through Empire United Methodist Church to UMCOR Advance #901440.

PRAYER FOR THE ANNIVRSARY OF 9/11

O God, our hope and refuge, in our distress we come quickly to you.
Shock and horror of that tragic day have subsided, replaced now with emptiness,
Longing for an innocence lost.

We come remembering those who lost their lives In New York, Washington, DC, and Pennsylvania.

We are mindful of the sacrifice of public servants who demonstrated the greatest love of all by laying down their lives for friends. We commit their souls to your eternal care and celebrate their gifts to a fallen humanity.

We come remembering and welcome in hope, not in ourselves but in you.

As foundations we once thought secure have been shaken, we are reminded of the illusion of security.

In commemorating this tragedy, we give you thanks for your presence in our time of need and we seek to worship you in Spirit and in truth, our guide and our guardian. AMEN.

The Rev. Jeremy Pridgeon,

District Superintendent of the Pensacola District of the Alabama-West Florida Annual Conference.
